

Company Profile

Who we are

RUBY XI is an engineering-first software house. We build operational systems that companies can rely on, not prototypes left to break. We are a development team, not an agency reselling templates, and we take projects of every kind and size.

What we build

Enterprise platforms

Multi-tenant systems for internal operations: customers, scheduling, inventory, invoicing, with tenant isolation, roles and a full audit trail.

Web platforms & corporate sites

Bilingual Arabic/English sites with custom admin panels and native RTL, so your team edits content without a developer.

API development & integration

Documented, versioned REST or GraphQL APIs, plus payment, notification and government-system integrations.

Infrastructure & deployment

Managed databases, caching, job queues, monitoring, tested backup and recovery, CI/CD from day one.

Mobile apps

iOS and Android from a single codebase on the same backend and data model as the web platform.

Maintenance & support

Monthly contracts: monitoring, fixes, security updates and feature work from the team that built the system.

How we work

01

Discover

Requirements, constraints and goals before any code.

02

Architect

Systems that scale, integrate cleanly and stay maintainable.

03

Build

Precise implementation, rigorous testing, every component verified.

04

Launch & support

A deliberate launch, real documentation, ongoing partnership.

Selected work

Auto Workshop Management System

Challenge Workshops running customers, vehicles, stock and invoices across separate tools, each needing its data kept apart from every other shop.

Outcome One system linking a work order to its stock, invoice and appointment, with query-level data isolation and an audit trail for every change. 59 entities across two services.

SIVA - Bilingual Corporate Website

Challenge A three-sector holding group needing one site in two languages, run by its own team without calling a developer for every edit.

Outcome A live Arabic and English site whose layout fully mirrors, with the team editing pages and the blog under roles and permissions. sivagr.com

Start with a free 30-minute operations review

Tell us what your operation needs. We give you a straight assessment of scope and timeline, and we reply within one business day.

contact@rubyxi.com

+966 59 044 4882

www.rubyxi.com